Nugraha is one of the best and most promising students I have ever met, as evidenced by his problem-solving, analytical thinking, and reasoning skills. For 5 semesters, he was able to maintain his grades and even improve them further. As a student, Nugraha also had excellent communication and leadership skills, which will surely make it easier for him in the future. He is good at teamwork and makes sure that his friends are working towards the goals they set for themselves while helping his friends who are struggling. I'm sure many will agree that he is a diligent, hardworking man and happy to help. Nugraha is one of the best students I have met in my teaching career and I highly recommend him to your university.
